Europe's Beloved Astérix the Gaul will be brought to life as hero of SEE Touring Attractions 2012 European tour

FRANKFURT, GERMANY – October 12, 2011 – The world's favourite, feisty hero, Astérix, will be joined by friends and foes for a first-of-its kind European touring attraction, it was announced today.

Revealed at the Frankfurt Book Fair, the long-awaited tour will bring the iconic characters to cities across Europe.

SEE Touring Attractions, the entertainment innovators behind sell-out attractions such as Star Trek and Titanic, know Astérix will delight fans of all ages.

"Fans will be in for a treat," said SEE Touring Attractions CEO Martin Biallas. "It's going to be different from anything Astérix fans have ever experienced - an immersive, entertaining odyssey that will match the Gaul's energy and humour."

The Astérix Tour, which will open in Autumn 2012, will visit major cities throughout Europe over five years, including Germany, France, Spain, Belgium, the Netherlands and the UK, causing the kind of stir you'd expect whenever Astérix, Obélix and their friends descend.

Les Éditions Albert René welcomed the upcoming tour as a way to engage new fans and thrill existing enthusiasts. "SEE Touring Attractions will be creating an engaging, fun-packed event to allow those with a passion for Astérix to fulfill a dream of getting close with their beloved Gaul."

In the new immersive touring exhibition, visitors will enter the incredible world of Astérix and his loyal companions Obélix and Dogmatix on a fun two-hour journey exploring new countries and cultures.

Memorable moments and characters from all 34 books will be recreated within interactive activities, which will combine state-of-the-art technology, physical challenges and face-to-face fun with the characters from 50 B.C. Gaul.
